People say that I am talkative and open heart person, true extrovert and funny, and I like that a lot. I worked as a waiter, hostel/hotel receptionist, salesman and tour guide.

Doing tours and stand up comedy is what I like the most but I felt that I can do more than that.

During the Covid-19, I started as an UX/UI designer. Now I piled over four years of experience working for multiple companies on various projects in different industries.

My goal is pretty simple: I want to create experiences that make everyone happy. I'm all about tailoring my process to fit each project's needs. I tailor stories and narratives for people to see it from a different perspective, in simple and if it is possible funny way to understand it.

EPTI

Sep 2020- Apr 2023

In EPTI I gained my first opportunity to learn about UX and UI through a Junior UX/UI Designer role.

In the beginning, my job involved creating wireframes, landing pages, and following the guidance of senior-level designers in the company. After a while, I started making UI libraries and design systems, maintaining and improving them.

My initiative to reach out to the management and suggest including a design system building phase into projects granted me a promotion and a new level of seniority. From that point, I became the lead designer on almost every project as Mid-level UX UI Designer.

JS Guru

In August, I started working for JS Guru based on a recommendation from a former team member who had become a lead at the company.

Over the past year, I have worked on five different projects across various industries, including energy, cooking, healthcare, transportation, and finance.
